

Business is about finding ways to break through barriers.

With business aviation,
I'm at a much higher altitude.

Denise Wilson
President, Desert Jet

A few years ago, Denise Wilson turned what had been a lifelong passion for aviation into a California-based charter operation. Her growing company not only helps businesses operate more efficiently all across Southern California, but it also provides good jobs within the community. What Wilson accomplishes at Desert Jet is just one more way that business aviation is working for America. Noplanenogain.org.
